Revolution

The Graduate School of Education at Francis Marion University invites you to Join the Revolution! We offer a Master of Education degree in Instructional Accommodation (Divergent Learning) and Master of Arts in Teaching and Master of Education degrees in Learning Disabilities. Top 10 Reasons that FMU should be your choice for a graduate degree in Education:

- 1. NCATE Accredited: FMU is nationally accredited through NCATE. This accreditation process is rigorous and ensures that you receive a credible degree.
- 2. Competitive Tuition Rates: FMU continues to offer one of the lowest tuitions in the state of South Carolina.
- 3. Financial Aid: Financial aid counselors are available to assist you with loan and aid programs. Students interested in teaching students with learning disabilities may also qualify for scholarship programs.

4. Flexible Scheduling: FMU is now offering courses on the weekends to accommodate the needs of our students.

5. Varied Course Formats: FMU is working to ensure that every graduate course has an alternative format. These may be online, hybrid (partially online/partially face to face), or via Internet.

6. Cohort Opportunities: If the school district in which you teach has enough people interested in a graduate degree, we will bring the degree to you at a reduced rate.

7. One-on-one Advising: We pride ourselves in the fact that each graduate student has an advisor who is available to meet with him/her one-on-one when necessary.

8. Pay Increase: There is a pay increase for receiving a Master's Degree if you teach in a South Carolina school district.

9. Increased Job Opportunities: Due to the shortage of special education teachers, students who obtain a graduate degree in Learning Disabilities are more marketable.

10. Professional Development: Obtaining a Master's degree affords you the opportunity to grow professionally. FMU is pleased to offer several conferences each academic year that further encourage your professional development.
